WHEREAS the Communication Between the capital places of New-York and Boſton, is of the greateſt public concern: The ſubſcribers, living in Hartford, have projected a plan upon proper encouragement, for eſtabliſhing a STAGE-COACH, for the conveyance of paſſengers through that beautiful part of the country of the upper Poſt road, to and from theſe places; and accordingly have actually built two neat Coaches, for ſtructure and convenience equal (if not ſuperior) to the Providence and Portſmouth Stage carriages, and purpoſe to ſet off from Hartford on the firſt Monday of May next, the one for New-York, the other for Boſton, to drive four good able Horſes; change the ſet at about half the diſtance between thoſe places; to arrive in Boſton Wedneſday night; return out of Boſton Thurſday noon, and to reach Hartford Saturday night, ſo as to compleat the whole diſtance from New-York to Boſton in the courſe of one week, and for about the price of the hire of a ſingle Horſe. To prevent all altercation and needleſs delay, every paſſenger is to enter his name at ſome place that will be appointed for the purpoſe, and pay half his paſſage a convenient time before the hour appointed for the Coach to ſet off from each place reſpectively.

And the ſubſcribers would inform any perſon in New-York and Boſton, that if they are diſpoſed to unite with them in their endeavour to ſerve the public by furniſhing a Coach to make a day's Journey out of their Towns upon the road, they will readily co-operate with them in this meaſure, and would be glad to receive from them the earlieſt notice of ſuch intention, which will render the purchaſe of an additional number of Horſes unneceſſary to us.

New-York, Feb. 17, 1772. 20 21

THE dwelling-houſe and farm of John Ogden, Eſq; in Newark, containing about ſixty-eight acres, will be ſold at public vendue, at the dwelling-houſe of James Banks, innholder in ſaid town, on Tueſday the fourteenth day of April next, at three of the clock in the afternoon; the lot on which the houſe ſtands, contains about twelve acres of excellant land; the houſe is large and built of ſtone, a good kitchen adjoint it, and many neceſſary and convenient out-houſes,—on this lot is perhaps the beſt orchard in the government, the fruit well choſen, and particularly adapted for the making of ſuch cider as truly merits the name of Newark Cider; there are alſo on it a ſufficient number of other trees, that afford a plenty of the beſt apples for the table, that are to be found in the country,—among which are pippins of various kinds, &c.

The pleaſantneſs of the ſituation of fifty acres of the farm on the top of the hill, back of the town of Newark, is ſo well known, that it would be needleſs to ſay any more, than that it has the town of Newark, the Paſaick-River, and the Newark Bay in full view, and commands a moſt elegant proſpect of the city of New York, the town of Bergen, Long-Iſland, Staten-Iſland, and other places for many miles round it. Few places are ſo well calculated for a gentleman's ſummer retreat as this farm; the proſpect is grand, the air extremely pure, and from it's elevation will never be infeſted with the too common diſturbers of a ſummer's evening's repoſe; on part of this, there is alſo a fine young orchard. The remaining ſix acres lie near the moſt public road, leading from New-York to Philadelphia, in the neck of land below the town of Newark, the quality of which land is well known to be good. The whole will be ſold together or in parts, as ſhall beſt ſuit the purchaſer or purchaſers. The conditions will be made known at the time of ſale, by 20 23 STEPHEN SKINNER.

To be SOLD, by the Subſcribers,

In ſuch Parcels, as may beſt ſuit the Purchaſers,

A Valuable tract of improved land, in the township of Alexandria, in the county of Hunterdon, and province of New-Jerſey, commonly known by the name of BYERLIE's Tract, containing about 8000 acres, now in the poſſeſſion of a number of tenants, whoſe leaſes will expire the 25*th of March next. It is ſituate on the river Delaware and Muſconecong, about ſix miles below Eaſton, ten miles from Union-Iron-Works, is contiguous both to Mr. Hughes and Mr. Johnſon's Forges and griſt-mills, and in the neighbourhood of ſeveral other griſt and ſaw-mills. The land is extremely well watered and of an excellent quality for raiſing of wheat and grain of all kinds. The tract is accommodated with a very good fiſhing place on the river Delaware, where a great quantity of ſhad and other fiſh are taken in the proper ſeaſons. The buyers on paying down one third of the purchaſe money, will have time given to pay the reſt. For further particulars, application may be made to* ARCHIBALD STEWART, of Andover-Iron-Works, who will attend on the land from the 1*ſt to the* 23*th of March next.*

By the Mercury Packet, Capt. Dillon, in ſeven Weeks from Falmouth; and the Ship Counteſs of Donnegall, Capt. Pym, in ſeven Weeks from Dublin, arrived here laſt Friday Night, we have the following Advices, viz.

WARSAW, November 6.

THE billet, which was writen by the King, when at Moulin, to General Count Coceii, was conceived in the following terms: "I am delivered from the hands of my aſſaſſins, by an immediate act of Providence. Haſten to me with forty ſoldiers. I am wounded, but not dangerouſly.

Signed. STANISLAUS AUGUSTUS."

The day of his Majeſty's return, he wrote a letter to the Empreſs of Ruſſia, giving the particulars of his ſeizure, and happy eſcape. And though it is aſtoniſhing, yet it is true, ſome of the monſters now in priſon for the attempt to murder his Majeſty, conſole themſelves with having received a previous formal abſolution for a crime, which is ſhocking to nature.

Dantzick, Nov. 12. This day we had public rejoicings at this place for the happy eſcape of his Majeſty from the hands of his aſſaſſins; and public thanks were offered up to heaven in all the churches, as well Lutheran as Calviniſt.

We learn from Warſaw, that the Conſpirators entered that City diſguiſed like Peaſants, and that their arms were hid among the ſacks of corn. The Convents of the Dominicans and Capuchins, where thoſe wretches were concealed all the time of putting their plot in execution, are inveſted by the Ruſſians who permit no one to enter into, or go out of them.

Conſtantineple, Oct. 17. Frequent conferences are held at the Mufti's by the heads of the law and other Miniſters of the Porte, which have for their object the concluſion of a peace or the continuation of the war.

Legborn, Nov. 6. The Duke of Glouceſter is ſo well recovered of his late dangerous illneſs, that his Highneſs goes daily in his coach about the ſtreets of this City, and propoſes to ſet out for Piſa on Sunday next.

Paris, Nov. 25. The Parliament of Bourdeaux met on the 18th of this Month, and entered on buſineſs.

The Princeſs of Wales is dying.—She is given over by the Family, and the Faculty.—To morrow (if ſhe lives ſo long) ſhe will enter into the 53d year of her age.

An Italian Lady, lately arrived in town, has preſented a petition to the C—, praying a ſubſiſtence, upon a promiſe of marriage being made to her by the late D— of Y—, when in Italy.

December 3. On Friday his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, with the Dutcheſs and another Lady and Gentleman, with four attendants, paſſed through Canterbury on his road to London. His Royal Highneſs came laſt from Bruſſels, and landed at Dover between three and four o'clock in the morning; his ſtay here was only during the change of horſes, and his Royal Highneſs did not get out of the carriage.

A report prevails at the weſt end of the town, that a diſtinguiſhed Nobleman is appointed to embark for the Court of Madrid, to ſettle the matter in diſpute between our Court and that of Spain, on account of the ſeizure at Carthagena.

By the death of the Duke of Chandos, his place as Maſter of the Hanaper Office, devolves to the Earl of Northington, and in reverſion, to his ſon the Hon. Lord Henley, a place of 3000*l.* per annum.

It is aſſerted, that the Ruſſians, ſince the beginning of the war in 1768, have loſt above 100,000 effective men, partly cut off by the ſword, and, the more fatal evil, epidemical diſtempers, beſides the havock among their ſeamen in the Levant.

They write from Cerigo, an Iſland in the Gulph of Venice, that expreſs orders have been given to the Governors of the ſeveral Iſles ſubject to that Republic, not to furniſh any Ruſſian ſhip with above a week's proviſion, one of theſe at a time, or three merchantmen, and no more.

We are credibly informed, that a certain Duke, and his new married Dutcheſs, who lately arrived from France, are forbid appearing at Court.

December 4. This unlucky blow has done two things at once; it has thoroughly convinced the Royal Youth of his folly, and at the ſame time blaſted the ſoaring hopes of the fair Princeſs his Spouſe. He is now (like the man in the Scripture) become an out-caſt in the Land of his People, in the Houſe of his Fathers.

Monday the Portugueſe Ambaſſador had a conference with his Majeſty, and the Earl of Rochford, at the Queen's Palace, relative to the anſwer from Liſbon to the Britiſh Memorial, which is ſaid to be entirely to the ſatisfaction of our Court.

It is ſaid that the harbour and baſon at Dunkirk which were reported to have been cleaned and repaired, are in the moſt abject condition, nor are the fortifications in a much better ſtate.

The Lord Chamberlain has ſignified to the Duke of Cumberland, by order of the King, that his Royal Highneſs's preſence at Court will be diſpenſed with; and it has alſo been ſignified, by authority, to the Miniſters, and to all the ſervants of the Crown, that if any of them viſit the Duke or Dutcheſs of Cumberland, they muſt not appear at St. James's. The Duke and Dutcheſs are at Windſor.

Advice is ſaid to be received that a great Lady at a Northern Court has been guilty of infidelity to her royal conſort, with one of her houſhold phyſicians.—Lond. Even. Poſt.

A treaty of marriage is ſaid to be on foot, between Lord Holderneſſe's daughter and the Queen's brother, now in England.

From the LONDON GAZETTE.

St. James's, Dec. 11.

THIS Day was received from Capt. Stott, Commander of his Majesty's Ship Juno, who arrived at Plymouth the 9th Inst. in seventy Days from Port Egmont, the following Account of the Execution of his Commission to receive the Possession of Falkland's Island, in his Majesty's Name. On the Evening of the 12th of Sept. last, Capt. Stott arrived at Port Egmont, with his Majesty's Frigate Juno, the Hound sloop, and Florida storeship, under his Command, The next Morning seeing Spanish Colours flying, and Troops on shore at the Settlement formerly held by the English, he sent a Lieutenant to know if any Officer was there on Behalf of his Catholic Majesty, empowered to make Restitution of Possession to him, agreeable to the Orders of his Court for that Purpose, Duplicates of which he had to deliver to such Officer. He was answered, that Don Francisco de Orduna, a Lieutenant of the Royal Artillery of Spain, was furnished with full Powers, and ready to effect the Restitution. Don Francisco soon after came on board the Juno; when Capt. Stott delivered to him his Catholic Majesty's Orders. They then examined together, into the situation of the settlement and stores; adjusted the Forms of the Restitution and Reception of the Possession; Instruments for which were settled, and reciprocally delivered. On Monday the 16th September, Capt. Stott landed, followed by a Party of Marines, and was received by the Spanish Officer, who formally restored him Falkland's Island, Port Egmont, its Fort, and other Dependencies, giving him the same Possession as His Majesty had before the 10th of June, 1770: On which he caused His Majesty's Colours to be hoisted, and took Possession accordingly. The next Day Don Francisco, with all the Troops and Subjects of the King of Spain, departed in a Schooner which they had with them.

Dec. 3. Lady Waldegrave went to Court on Saturday last, in one of the Carriages of his Royal Highness the D--- of G———, and as Countess of Waldegrave, was received very graciously, she afterwards waited on the Princess Dowager of Wales.

Dec. 4. The King of Prussia has declared in a Manifesto, that it is to keep off the plague from Polish Prussia, that he has entered that country with an army.

A private letter from Paris says, "An account has been received here from the Island of Bourbon, that a powerful Nabob at the head of a numerous army, was in march for one of the English settlements on the Coast."

It is confidently reported that the Grand Signior is indefatigable in his Preparations for War, and that his Sublime Highness has at length struck out a Plan, by which he proposes to pay the Russians in their own Coin, and make them severely repent their having ever taken up Arms against the Descendants of Mahomet. Other Accounts say, that two of the principal Members of the Divan had just received the Bow-string for dissenting from this Plan, and being Advocates for an inglorious Peace.

Notwithstanding all insinuations to the contrary, we are desired to assure the public, that the greatest harmony has prevailed, and still continues between our Court, and that of Madrid.

Port Egmont was delivered up, upon the arrival of our ships, according to the letter of the convention.

The officers of the dock-yards have received orders to get all the ships ready for sea as soon as possible: For which reason the artificers are to work double tides.

Dec. 5. Private letters from the Hague advise, that the States General will have a fleet of seventy ships fit for service by March next, and that all the marching regiments are to be completed to their full establishment.

Dec. 6. It is said, that a certain Great Personage is so struck with, and affected by the late desperate conspiracy and assassination of the King of Poland, that his guard will be doubled for the future, whenever he goes out.

It is certain that Lord Townshend has been promised by Lord Bute an important office in the Government, as a compensation for his quitting Ireland.

Extract of a letter from Warsaw, dated Nov. 4.

"Last night, about half an hour after nine o'clock, as his Majesty was returning home from Prince Czartorinski's, the Grand Chancellor, he was attacked at the corner of the street of the Capuchins by six confederates, commanded by Captain Koczwiski, opposite to the Bishops of Cracow. The King was not escorted, as usual, by his guard of twelve Uhlans; but only attended by some pages and domesticks. The confederates fired their carbines and pistols at the carriage, the balls of which entered it; imediately on which the two Heyducks, who were behind the carriage with flambeax, descended to assist his Majesty; one of whom received several wounds with a sabre, of which he died soon after, and the other was grievously wounded; but it is thought he will recover; several other of his attendants were wounded.

"The whole city was immediately in the greatest consternation, not being able to discover his Majesty, and supposing him murdered, as they found his hat bloody on the spot. At length it appeared, the above Koczwiski had taken an oath, together with twenty-five other confederates, to deliver the King, dead or alive, to the confederates at Czenstokau, and in the above scuffle had seized the King, whom he had carried near to Willanow; in the way to which place were some Russian picquets. Here Koczwiski, either touched with fear or remorse, demanded pardon of the King, and proposed to save him; but the King happily taking advantage of Koczwiski's dividing his body of desperadoes into two parties (one of which was to attack the Russian picquets, while the other guarded his Majesty) slipt aside into a wood, and after an hour and half's desperate journey gained a small hut, from whence he sent notice to General Cocceii, who immediately repaired to the place, where he found his Majesty and this morning at four o'clock his Majesty arrived at his palace, were two wounds his Majesty had received on his head, the one by a pistol, and the other by a sabre, was dressed, and it happily appears that neither of them are dangerous. At eleven o'clock Te Deum was sung in the cathedral for his Majesty's escape."

By advices received the twenty sixth Instant, it appears that the twenty-five confederates, who carried off the King of Poland, had introduced themselves at different times into that city under the characters of waggoners, driving so many loads of hay,

The same accounts mention, that the King after being forced out of his coach, had been carried between two horses to Willanow, by which his Majesty was so extremely rocked, that when he came, after the fatigue of an hour and an half's march on foot, to the hut in the forrest, where he was relieved by the Russian detachment, he threw himself on the poor peasant's truckle bed, and had one of the most comfortable naps he ever enjoyed in his life time.

Another account says, that his Majesty, in his way to the above hut, after escaping from the confederates, had the misfortune to lose his shoes in the swampy grounds in the forrest, by which his feet were so terribly hurt, that the pain he underwent in continuing his journey is incredible; and this, no doubt, added to the comfortableness of his repose.

A third account says, that Koczwiski, who headed the six confederates that took the King, was no more than a Lieutenant, and that when after joining the rest of the confederates at the entrance of the city, they had carried his Polish Majesty as far as Willanow; they hearing the report of cannon, which were fired by the Russians as signals of alarm, and dreading the approach of troops, he advised his Captain, who commanded the corps, to divide them into two bodies, and sent them forward to reconoitre, leaving himself with four of the band to guard the King. Having thus got rid of his commander, and the principal part of the corps, he then contrived to send the four left with him, under various pretences, different ways. Being left alone with the King, he threw himself at his Majesty's feet, and told him, that if he would grant him his pardon, and a reward, he would save his life. His Majesty, it is to be supposed, was not long hesitating. Koczwiski and he set out for the hut in the manner that has been related.

Dec. 6. On Friday last the two ships which are intended for Mr. Banks's second voyage round the world, were commissioned by the names of the Drake and Raleigh; and the commands given to the Captains Cook and Furneaux; at the same time Messrs. Cooper, Clarke and Pickergill, were appointed Lieutenants to the Drake. They will sail some time in March next.

The Lieutenant of Ireland is said to be very pressing to be recalled; but it is thought the Ministry cannot determine on any nobleman, at present, to accept that office. It is likewise said some changes in the higher law departments in that kingdom will soon take place.

The late affair at Carthagena has not, we are told, been even mentioned in any of the late Privy Councils, from which it may be concluded that the difference is entirely accommodated.

The American Agents are to wait upon the Earl of Hillsborough in a few days, to receive his Lordship's opinion upon some proposals made to him a few weeks ago for the benefit of the Colonies.

Several Privy Councils have lately been held on the present proceedings of the Irish Parliament; and we are told, that all the Judges will be shortly required to give their opinion with respect to the power of the Royal Prerogative over the money of that kingdom.

Six Members of the Irish Parliament, who were thought to be fixed to the Court party, have not only deserted it themselves, but by their defection have carried over several others to the Country side.

A speedy and great change in Administration is the common topic of discourse at the west end of the town.

Some persons are so much afraid of a Spanish war, that many of them will not export goods without insuring from the capture of the Spaniards, the consequence of which is, that the Insurance Offices are full of business.

The ball on Saturday night at St. James's was the thinnest known for many years, owing to the dangerous situation of the Princess Dowager of Wales, as many of the Nobility paid compliments of condolence at Carlton-house in the morning. The King and Queen quitted the ball-room a little after eleven, and there were only two country dances called for.

It is said a certain great Lady is so resigned to her approaching dissolution, as to have made her will, and settled all her most trivial affairs in the world. She has left three millions sterling to the children of a great Personage, and the rest to her German relations.

Whatever may be the reason for it, not one of a certain great Lady's attendants or domestics, either male or female, choose, when asked, to acknowledge the ill state of their mistress's health.—It is supposed they have been commanded to be silent on that subject.

It is reported that Admiral Rodney has sent home for more ships of war, as we hear there are 14 or 15 sail of Spanish ships of the line off Jamaica.

We are told that an English Nobleman will be sent to Madrid, to settle the dispute respecting the capture at Carthagena. Is it possible to conceive that our Court will descend to such meanness!

We are told that the Premier's plan for raising and applying the supplies for the ensuing year has been presented to his Majesty, and that he has received the highest encomiums thereon.

The Commander of the Hawke sloop has had more than one audience of the principal people in power, and we hear given a very satisfactory account of his conduct in the late capture of his ship, by order of the Spanish Governor, at Carthagena.

A letter from Dublin says, "We cannot sufficiently admire the incorruptible integrity of Sir Edward Newenham, a placeman, who has preferred the cause of his country, tho' to the almost certain ruin of his private fortune. Our late worthy Representative, Dr. Lucas, was so convinced of that gentleman's love for his country, that, we are credibly informed, he supported him (though a placeman) on the two contested elections for the county of Dublin.

There is something very extraordinary in the Dublin poll for the candidates to succeed Dr. Lucas—The numbers were equal for five days successively; a circumstance probably never known before.

The pensions on the Irish establishment are of much more danger to this kingdom than we may at first imagine: Several Members of the British Parliament are Pensioners upon Ireland; and it requires no extraordinay share of wisdom to foresee on which side they will divide in the determination of every considerable question.

A treaty of marriage, we hear, is concluded upon between the Prince of Mecklenbourg, brother to the Queen, and now at the Court of Great Britain, and Lady Amelia D'Arey, only daughter of the Earl of Holderness.

They write from Gibraltar, that the Spanish Lines at St. Roche are fortifying in a very extensive manner, and double garrisoned.

By the Christian d'Amore a Dutch Dogger from Flushing, there is advice of the Dutch Victualing yard, at Harlem having been set on fire in the night of the 29th ult. by some villains, which had destroyed all the victualling house entirely, together with several casks of provisions which had been lately cured for St. Eustatia.

The Duke of Cumberland appeared on Friday publicly in town; and it is amazing how the populace thronged about his chariot, as if the circumstance of his marriage had made the most surprising alteration in his person.

Dec. 7. It is by some conjectured, that the approaching Session of Parliament will not only be the busiest, but also one of the most important ever known in this Kingdom.

Dec. 9, and 10. We are told from Authority, that our most amiable Queen is again pregnant; she was not at Chapel Yesterday, but had Divine Service performed in her own Chamber, being slightly indisposed.

We are assured, that it is now a settled point, that Earl Gower shall succeed Lord Townsend as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Besides the men of war that are now fitting out as a reinforcement to the squadrons on the Mediterranean and Jamaica stations, a fleet of Observation is to be formed early in the spring, under the command of an experienced Admiral.

Yesterday, and not before, the cause brought by Ld. L---r against Lady L---r for Adultery with Count A--i, a Piedmontese Nobleman, came on at Doctors Commons, when, after a long hearing, and the clearest case made out by his Lordship, the Judge pronounced a definitive sentence of Divorce from Bed, Board, and mutual Cohabitation, by reason of the said Adultery.

The preparations for war, which continue to be made in Denmark, occasion many conjectures: It is assured, that his Danish Majesty intends to embody the militia of Holstein this winter.

It is rumoured, that a message full of insolence, hath been received last week from Spain.

Dec. 11. We hear that orders are given for a survey to be made of all the ports and harbours belonging to the British Colonies in America, under the inspection of two able Engineers.

Dec. 12. Last night the Earl of Bute, Jeremiah Dyson, Sir Gilbert Elliot, and another Gentleman, were in conference with his Majesty, above two hours at Buckingham-house.

They write from Toulon, that the naval commander there had just received an order from his Court, to equip a number of men of war and frigates for sea, with the utmost Expedition.

Dec. 13. We are now told, that advices have been received within these few days from Lord Grantham, informing, that his Catholic Majesty is desirous of having the difference relative to the late affair at Carthagena adjusted in an amicable manner; and that he promises to make all the satisfaction that the Court of Great-Britain can reasonably require, for the insult offered to the British flag.

It is whiſpered, by the Moderators at the Weſt end of the town, that the only way to heal the difference in Ireland is to ſend over Lord Chatham to ſucceed the preſent Viceroy; and it is even ſaid that ſuch a deſign has been hinted to his Lordſhip's friends, by the deſire of a Great Perſonage, but we have not heard, what a reception the propoſals met with.

Dec. 14. It is apprehended, that the Spaniards intend building a fort upon Falkland's Iſland, within Gun-ſhot of Fort Egmont.

Since the arrival of Captain Stott from Falkland's Iſland, the miniſterial runners, have induſtriouſly circulated, according to order, "That the Spaniards have given up Falkland's Iſland entirely—the whole iſland—Fort Egmont and all!" It is more than probable the London Gazette will confirm this report. If it does, it will not be the firſt falſhood which the London Gazette has given to the world. The fact is, the Spaniards have ſurrendered port and fort Egmont ONLY. The Spaniards drove our people from the Iſland; they would not ſuffer them to remain upon any part of it. They took poſſeſſion of the whole; ſaying, "the Iſlands belonged to the King of Spain." The papers laid before the Parliament laſt winter (which were publiſhed) give us the fact. The Spaniards have reſtored to us the port and fort only. But to whom does the Sovereignty of the Iſland belong? Is that to be the ſubject of another negotiation? Or, is it to be tamely given up? The ſpeech, at the enſuing ſeſſion, will doubtleſs be full of this great condeſcenſion in Spain. That ſtate paper the Miniſters think is a priviledged vehicle of fallacy. But though the North Briton was perſecuted with a rancour that would have diſgraced the reign of a Stuart, for ſpeaking bold truths, yet this LIE, if it is told, ſhall not go undetected.

A private board of Admiralty was held yeſterday, at which Commodore Harvey preſided. Dr. Solander and Mr. Banks attended to receive ſome inſtructions for their intended voyage. The above gentlemen are to ſail the beginning of next March. They are to have one ſhip of fifty guns, two frigates, and three ſmaller ſail. They are particularly charged with making diſcoveries on the coaſt of New-Holland and New-Zealand, which are at preſent almoſt unknown.

Dec. 16 On Saturday night about a quarter paſt twelve o'clock, her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Brunſwick arrived at Carlton-houſe from Brunſwick in perfect health. His Serene Highneſs the Prince her Conſort is expected very ſoon.

Dec. 17, and 18. A correſpondent obſerves, that Falkland Iſlands have coſt us no leſs than Five Millions of money; beſides the additional weight of 40,000 ſeamen, which are to be kept in pay during the bleſſed period of an imperfect peace. But adds this Gentleman, however honourable or eſſential it may be for this country to have the navy in a reſpectable condition, it was ſurely never intended that affairs between us and Spain ſhould have terminated in the manner they have done, as the Engliſh have been ſeldom or never ſatisfied with gaining a loſs.

It is an undoubted fact, that no ſteps have been omitted to reduce the D--ke of C--------d to the level of a private Gentleman. Orders have been univerſally given at Court for the conduct of all ranks of people; and even the Theatres have received notice that it is his M----y's pleaſure he have no diſtinctions paid him there.—What a difference is thus made, by the moſt virtuous of P---ces, between the ſin of gallantry, and the diſgrace of an unequal marriage!

It is certain that the Princeſs of Brunſwick is not to viſit the Duke of Cumberland.

We have advice from Madrid, that the diſpatch in fitting out their ſhips is incredible, upwards of 14,000 men are employed in their ſeveral dock yards, &c. for that purpoſe.

A letter from Liſbon ſays, that advice is received there of all the new fortifications at Rio de Janeiro being deſtroyed by an earthquake, which has greatly damped the ſpirits of the court of Portugal.

We are now told that the D. of C. will not make his appearance at Court before the D. of G.

It is aſſured that a certain great Lady; on her hearing that her illuſtrious huſband had entered into the holy ſtate of matrimony, turned to one of her gentlewomen in waiting, and ſaid, "I heartily wiſh he had choſen, inſtead of C—l L---t---l's ſiſter, the daughter of Mr. Wilkes, becauſe he would then have gained largely by his change of condition—an accompliſhed girl, and popularity.

The reaſon their Majeſties have appeared in public ſo ſeldom this winter, is ſaid to be owing to the great chagrin they have felt from the miſconduct of a once favourite brother.

Dec. 25. The Court of Spain have iſſued orders to their commanding officers in the Weſt-Indies, to ſuffer no foreign ſubjects to cut logwood in the iſland of Rattan, or even reſort to that place, on any pretext whatſoever.

Orders are given for two companies of the Artillery to hold themſelves in readineſs to embark for Jamaica, to relieve thoſe now on duty at that place.

A correſpondent informs us, that within theſe ten days paſt upwards of forty additional workmen have been taken into pay at Chatham dockyard, by orders from the Admiralty board.

We hear that the premier has written circulating letters in the moſt preſſing terms to the King's men, as they are called, requeſting their early attendance this winter on extraordinary matters, which are to come on at the very opening of the Seſſion of Parliament.

They write from Guernſey, that five ſail of French homeward bound ſhips from Canada, have been loſt on the coaſt of Britany, near the Gaſkets, between the 6th and the 12th inſtant.

The Duke of Cumberland has been adviſed by his brother the Colonel to go and ſpend a few months at Luttrell's town, till the Fracas be a little over.—The tour of Ireland may help to finiſh his education!

The Rachael, Henry, from Boſton, to London, with lumber, was drove on ſhore the 6th Dec. near the Bolt, at Plymouth; the ſhip and cargo are entirely loſt, the Captain and crew ſaved.

The Tryon, Farmer, from Jamaica to Briſtol, is wrecked on the Newton Sands.

The Nelly, Hudſon, from Virginia to London, is on ſhore upon the Knock near South-End, but if the weather proves moderate, are in hopes of getting her off again.

The Neptune, Shepherd, from Boſton to Hull, is totally loſt near Margate.

The treaty of commerce between the Engliſh and Ruſſians is to be concluded next week, as all difficulties are now removed.

It was yeſterday currently reported upon 'Change, that the Grand Signior, irritated by the bad ſucceſs of his arms, had, in a fit of deſpair, poiſoned himſelf and was found dead in the Seraglio. This advice is ſaid to be received two days ago from Holland.

They write from the Hague, that a treaty is on foot for lending at a high price ten Dutch men of war, to ſerve the Ruſſians the enſuing campaign againſt the Turks in the Levant.

Laſt night an alarm was ſpread among the ſhipping, below bridge, that preſs warrants had that morning been iſſued, which occaſioned a general conſternation among the ſailors.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Dec. 16.

"The Parliament lately made remonſtrances to the King upon the ſubject of ſome edicts relative to the finances, to which his Majeſty ſeemed at firſt to pay ſome attention, but upon a repetition of their remonſtrances, he ſent them letters of juſſion directing them to regiſter his edicts without any altercation or delay."

Yeſterday a grant of a pardon paſſed the Great Seal to Sir James Stewart, Bart. who was concerned in the late rebellion, and againſt whom a bill of indictment was found for high treaſon, by the grand jury, in the court of Juſticiary in Scotland, in October 1748.

The Dutcheſs of York is next heir to an eſtate of 6000l. per annum, her brother the Iriſh patriot, having no children.

We can aſſure the public, that a memorial was lately ſent off from St. James's to the Spaniſh Court, demanding a releaſe of Engliſh priſoners, which have been at different times taken by Spaniſh veſſels on various pretences. From the ſame authority we alſo aſſert, that there is not one royal ſea port town in Spain, which has not at this time a greater or leſs number of Engliſh priſoners in cloſe confinement. The above point muſt be ſettled, before the diſputes now ſubſiſting between England and Spain can be brought to any termination.

Extract of a letter from the Hague, Dec. 17.

"The laſt letters from Vienna adviſe, that the great advantages lately gained by the Ruſſians over the Turks, have made ſuch an impreſſion on the Empreſs Queen and her Miniſtry, that there is reaſon to hope her Imperial Majeſty will be more inclined than heretofore to liſten to the terms propoſed for bringing about a peace between the Ruſſians and the Turks."

The inqueſt brought their verdict in "Guilty of ſhortening her days." He is to remain in priſon till the chief Judge comes down to try him for his life. ☞ THE Printing-Office, now kept on Hunter's-Quay, Rotton-Row, will at the 1ſt of May next, be removed to the Houſe now occupied by Mrs. Joncour, nearly oppoſite the Coffee-Houſe.

THE Printer requeſts all thoſe who are indebted to him for advertiſements, ſtationary, &c. or above twelve months, for news-papers, that they will immediately diſcharge their accounts;—all but news-papers being ready money articles for which no truſt ought to be given, nor ever was or is propoſed to be given by the Printer hereof—unleſs to his conſtant cuſtomers, whoſe accounts are always readily paid when carried in. To cuſtomers of this ſort, who are the only ſupporters of his paper, he returns his hearty thanks, aſſuring them that they are not the perſons of whom he means to complain for neglect in payment of their accounts.—The objects of his complaint are perſons of very different characters, who, in order to keep a man one of his property are ingenious in finding out occaſions of cavil and delay. They will examine the account—or they will call down and ſettle it, or they are not then at leiſure, or they will pay in a few days; or a week; or a month hence, or they think they have paid it, or part of it before, or they have juſt paid away all their money, or are not at home, or they have not had time to examine the account, or had forgot it, or have loſt the account and muſt have another, &c. and theſe and other excuſes are often repeated over and over again, till the trouble and loſs of time greatly exceeds the debt demanded, which is generally ſmall, and of long ſtanding; and from ſuch people, the payment is often made at laſt in the moſt nigardly and ungenerous manner, ſome trifling or unreaſonable deduction being inſiſted on, and admitted merely to avoid contention. Thus the cuſtomary method of making up accounts for news-papers, being to charge to the end of the preſent quarter (then running when the account is carried in) tho' the account has been unpaid for ſeveral years, ſome have inſiſted upon a deduction of the few weeks that were charged of the unfiniſhed quarter, which can never amount to ſo much as three ſhillings, and even if the remaining papers ſhould not be ſent, would not amount to more than the intereſt of the money after it became due for the papers.

Cuſtomers ſuch as theſe, are really misfortunes to all concerned with them: It is no advantage to a Printer to publiſh advertiſements on truſt, or to have cuſtomers for trifling accounts, unleſs they take care to diſcharge them punctually, or at leaſt upon being ſent to once or twice. The buſineſs of printing is carried on at a great expence of ready money, the workmen's wages, and all the materials are ready money articles, nor can be ſupported without ready money or punctual payments——All therefore, who do not pay ready money, or who neglect to pay their accounts when carried in, are dead weights upon the buſineſs, who ought by every Printer to be thrown off for the common good—and in order to diſcriminate between thoſe who are benefactors and thoſe who are nuiſances to the buſineſs.

To be ſold at public Vendue, on Thurſday the 2d Day of April next, on the Premiſes,

SEVEN lots of land at Tinton, near Shrewſberry, New-Jerſey.—Lot N° 1, is a farm of about 280 acres, 150 of which is cleared, and in good fence, and contains a great quantity of fine meadow-land, (which yields the beſt hay) and much more may be made as there is a fine ſwamp upon it, the wood of which will more than pay the expence of clearing.—There is on this farm a good bearing orchard, and a young one beginning to bear, a large dwelling houſe, newly covered and repaired, of two ſtories high, with four rooms on a floor, a large barn and ſtables, a large crib for Indian corn, and other out-houſes: This is a convenient place for a trader, and has a good griſt-mill adjoining it; the other ſix lots are wood land, from 30 to 80 acres in each lot, very handy to Shrewſberry, the inhabitants of which, and the adjacent country, buy their firewood. The conditions will be made known on the day of ſale. Should any perſon incline to purchaſe the above farm, or any of the wood-lots before the day of ſale, they may apply to the ſubſcriber, on the premiſes, who will agree on very reaſonable terms, and give an indiſputable title for the ſame.

POET'S CORNER.

The PHILOSOPHER and the COXCOMB.

A Coxcomb once in Handel's parlour found
A Grecian lyre, and try'd to make it sound
O'er the fine stops his awkward fist he flings,
And rudely presses on th' elastic strings;
Awaken'd discord shrieks, and scolds, and raves,
Wild as the dissonance of winds and waves,
Loud as a Wapping mob at midnight bawls,
Harsh as ten chariots rolling round St. Paul's,
And hoarser far than all the ecstatic race,
Whose drunken orgies stunn'd the wilds of Thrace.
Friend quoth the sage, that fine machine contains
Exacter numbers and diviner strains;
Strains, such as once could build the Theban wall
And stop the mountain torrent in its fall:
But yet, to wake them, rouze them, and inspire,
Asks a fine finger, and a touch of fire;
A feeling soul whose all expressive pow'rs
Can copy Nature as she sinks or soars;
And, just, alike to passion, time, and place,
Refine correctness into ease and grace.
He said—and, flying o'er each quiv'ring wire,
Spread his light hand, and swept it on the lyre.
Quick to his touch the lyre began to glow,
The sound to kindle, and the air to flow,
Deep as the murmurs of the falling floods,
Sweet as the warbles of the vocal woods:
The list'ning passions hear, and sink, and rise,
As the nice harmony or swells, or dies:
The pulse of avarice forgets to move,
A purer rapture fills the breast of love;
Devotion lifts to heaven a holier eye,
And bleeding pity heaves a softer sigh.
Life has its ease, amusement, joy, and fire,
Hid in itself as music in the lyre;
And, like the lyre, will all its pow'rs impart,
When touch'd and manag'd by the hand of art;
But halt mankind, like Handel's fool, destroy,
Through rage and ignorance, the strain of joy;
Irregularly will the passions roll
Through nature's finest instrument, the soul:
While men of sense, with Handel's happier skill,
Correct the taste, and harmonize the will,
Teach their affections like his notes to flow,
Not rais'd too high, nor ever sunk too low;
Till ev'ry virtue, measur'd and refin'd,
As fits the concert of the master-mind,
Melts in its kindred sounds, and pours along
Th' according music of the moral song.

A Very good grist-mill, together with about 70 acres of land, lying on Mattawan creek, within about half a mile of Middle-Town Point, in East-New-Jersey; the said mill consists of two pair of stones, and three bolting boxes, all which go by water, which makes it extreamly easy to tend the mills; an extraordinary and large mill house, well calculated for taking in large quantities of grain. The said mills, mill-house, mill-dam, and flood-gates, were all lately put in new and good repair. There is on said land two dwelling-houses, one of which is large and convenient, with a good, large and convenient, shop added to it, suitable for a trader, as the place and situation is well calculated for that business; there is also a barn and sundry other out-houses on said land. The quality of the land, as follows, viz. About 45 acres of wood land, about 7 acres of salt meadow, the remainder clear'd land, on part of which is a good young bearing orchard of about 60 apple trees, all grafts, also some peach and plumb trees. It is a noted place for conveniency to fowling fishing, oystering, clamming, &c. as the land lies on both sides of the creek; and further, the boats that frequently follow coasting between Middle-Town Point and New-York, can go up the creek within a few rods of the mill. For further particulars, and conditons of sale, enquire of Mr. John Burrows, at Middle-Town Point, or Nathaniel Marston, merchant, in New York, who will agree on reasonable terms, and give an indisputable title for the same. 19 2t
